Let's Talk Allyship: Community-Designed Solutions

The Let's Talk Allyship: Community-Designed Solutions challenge takes the Coatesville community through a process of innovation to explore, test, adapt, and fine-tune community-created solutions. These solutions will be adopted and implemented by the government, nonprofits, and grassroots efforts.

The goal of these challenge series is for Greater Coatesville residents to provide solutions to one or more of the seven questions formed by over 100 community members. The challenge questions relate to health, well-being, education, employment, housing, and economic revitalization. Thirty ideas presented to the public in February, March, April, May, and June will be awarded cash prizes.

Would you or your business like to join The Alliance in supporting this investment in ideas for community-driven change?
