STRENGTHENING COMMUNITIES

The Let's Talk: Community-Designed Solutions challenge takes the Coatesville community through a process to explore, test, adapt, and fine-tune their solutions. The solutions will be invested and adopted by the government, nonprofits, and grassroots efforts.

The goal of these challenge series is for Greater Coatesville residents to provide an understanding and personal expertise to topics on health, mental health, education, employment, housing, and economic revitalization. Thirty residents will be trained to present a proposed solution to one or more topics in front of the public in November, January, March, and May for scaling and co-investment opportunities. Join The Alliance in supporting this investment in ideas for community-driven change!
